Strategy.

We have another example of profound and iginal strategy, for which the world is ined to this self styled Union party. We helped them to make a platform, which is good as far as it goes. In their Convention here they professed to adopt it. They resolved that our institutions are assailed by unconstitutional acts of Congress and startling usurpations of power by the Executive, which we have seen by experiment can be corrected by the ballot-box.

Well, that was true, and pretty well said. They could correct these unconstitutional acts and startling usurpations by the ballotthat it could be done. The Northern Democracy had set the example, and the platform and startling usurpations. Now mark the bright prospect for the loyal twentieth. strategy. It is original. They send out a candidate for Governor to apologize for these unconstitutional acts and startling usurpations, and, indeed, to advocate them before the people. In this way they are going to correct by the ballotbox these unconstitutional acts and startling ling to believe the people of Pennsylvania disthe marvelous ways of this wonderful party. We intend to keep a list of the new discoveries of this party in the strategic line until the canvass is over; and we give them notice that if they don't apply for a patent for each one we shall; and we shall advertise these different patents for sale by the gross to all who need strategy, civil, political or military.

crime is, they don't repulse Lee's army.

A comparison of the two is not the object. They wish, by directing attention to what they deem the lukewarmness of Pennsylvanians to the cause, and by loudly abusing them, to escape deserved censure themselves. This game is about over. The people will not be misled from putting the blame where it belongs by any such idle slanders as the Republican press may originate.

We in this State can understand and sympa thize with the feelings of the people of Pennsylvania in the matter. When our State has been invaded we too have been subjected to the taunt of disloyalty, lukewarmness, &c. The Secretary of War publicly slandered the State, and all the little orators and newspapers have followed in the track. It is not enough to suffer the losses incident to an invasion; but we had to submit, as Pennsylvania does now, to sneers and innuendoes about our disloyalty, because an unorganized and scattered population did not repulse invasions that our Generals and their force could not prevent. We were charged, as the Pennsylvanians are now, with willingly aiding the rebels; with supplying them with such provisions, and clothing, and horses as they might want; and, having been compelled to dispose of them for Confederate money by an armed force, we were abused for submitting to what we could not resist.

These Republicans are a wise set. They declared last fall that all who did not vote the Republican ticket were Copperheads, traitors, etc. The elections came off, and they were defeated. So, according to them, a majority of the people North, as well as South, must have disloyal sympathies. Now, when a great box; of course they could. They had seen State is invaded through the incompetence of a General of their selection, they at once pronounce the population of that State rebels, referred to them. The Union men of this &c. If they keep up that course much longer, Sta'e would do likewise. The engineers went they will inevitably prove that nineteen-twen to work to carry out the platform-to correct tieths of the people of the United States are by the ballot-box the unconstitutional acts disloyal, which, of course, doesn't leave a very

All such slanders only recoil on their originaters. We cannot expect the Republicaus to take any of the blame themselves, nor do we think it important whom they choose to censure. The people generally are not gousurpations. This is another development of loyal on their say-so, or hold them responsible for an invasion which they could not prevent.

The taxes occasioned by the war are necessarily very heavy, and are often a cause of complaint, even among the most loyal and Union-loving men. It may have a tendency to reconcile cur heavily-taxed citizens to their to know of the rate of taxation in that inter nists in this war or accept the rule of the esting region. THE NATURAL LAWS OF HUSBANDRY, By JUSTUS VON LIEBIG. Edited by John Blyth, M. D., Professor of Chemistry in Queen's College, Cork. New York: D. Appleton & Co.

After sixteen years of experiment and reflection, Baron Liebig has given to the world his mature views on agricultural science. Though some of his theoretical conclusions have been abandoned, even by himself, the labors of Liebig have been of immense practical benefit. The present work should be in the hands of every-thinking farmer, and of every one who takes an interest in the progress of agriculture.

Mr. Blot says: "No matter how inexperienced some of our housekeeping readers may be by carefully following our directions they will able to live as well and economically as possible, and also serve a dinner in as orderly a manner as any steward could do." Mr. B's cooking is no doubt much better than his the English. If he had told us what to eat, how to cook it, and how to get it, the work would have been perfect.

About noon yesterday Mr. Webb visited the premises for the purpose of serving the war-rants. The residence of Eugene Sullivan was first visited. The door was found lecked, but after some little parley and explanation upon the part of the United States Marshal, Mr. Sullivan voluntarily opened the door and surrendered himself.

A house on Fourth avenue, near the corner of Liberty street, was next visited. The door was found unlocked, and the officers entered without resistance or even remonstrance.
Two of the mea agrisst whom the Marshal had warrants were in the room. Mi. Webb explained to them the nature of his business, and placed them under arrest. They made no and placed them under arrest. They made no demonstration of resistance, and requested the officers to be seated until they could partake of their dioner, which had just been prepared, after which, they stated, they would accompany them. This very reasonable request was granted. After dinner the parties left the house. Mr. Webb was some twenty or thirty paces in advance of his companions with one man, Messrs. Bailey and Carter, by Mr. Webb's request, following with the other. The prisonrequest, following with the other. The prisoners manifested no thought of resistance until it was suggested to them by some persons they met, when both of them declined accompany. ing the officers any further. A crowd male to do duty as deadly weapons. A crowd of some three hundred persons was thus assembled in a few minutes, and commenced an assault upon the officers with clubs, stones, bricks and the miscellaneous assortment of articles they had brought from their houses. The prisoners were, of course, rescued without any great difficulty, and the officers having them in charge were roughly handled by the crowd. Messis. The passion and fury of the mob subsided as soon as the efficers had been driven off, when some persons restdies in its vicinity went to the assistance of Mr. Carter, who was lying, as all supposed, dead in the middle of the street. They found two wounds upon the head—the first two inches in length, or the left side of the head, the scalp being laid open to the bone. The other wound, three inches in length and of equal depth with the other, was upon the right side of the head. In the middle of this last wound the skull was badly fractured, in a space about the size and shape of the half of a quarter of a dollar Mr. Carter's wounds were properly attended to, and, in the course of an hour, he returned to consciousness sufficient to recognize his accquaintances, though not enough to be concious of any of the events of the day. The Colonel replied that he had often asked the same question and never got a satisfactory answer. Hooker then issued an order that the place should be evacuated by seven o'clock next morning; that such guns as could not be taken away snould be destroyed, and the stores removed immediately afterward.

He informed Gen. Halleck of what he had

Yesterday the Frankfort morning train came to a sudden halt, with a shock, about two miles beyond Cropper's depot. The passengers for a moment thought it only a common accident; but in a few minutes the Confederates, with their shotguns, undeceived the crowd. Out went the mailbags, and some of them were rifled, whilst o.hers were carried off. The passengers were searched for fire-arms, and two watches were taken, one from Mr. Calahan and one from Mr. Nolan. Notice was given all the passengers to get out of the cars, as they were to be burned. In the meantime a telegraph pole was cut down and the wires cut. The whole operation did not occupy but a few minutes. The cars were all on fire in a few minutes, and the marauders skedaddled to the woods close by. They directed that all the private baggage should be removed; but some was left. Two trunks belonging to the Messrs. Prestons were burned, with valuable centents. The express agent was invited to open his safe, which he had to do, but he had a dry day of cash, only about one hundred dollars. The day before he had a large sum.

Dr. Wheeler, mail agent, was thrown, by the shock of the locomotive running off the track, against the side of the car, and was severely hurt. He came to just in time to see the mail bags taken away. Some packages of letters, we understand, were saved.

REBEL INVASION OF KENTUCKY .- The New Good News from the Army of the Cum-Albany Ledger has news from Clinton county, Kentucky, that the rebels are in strong force at Albany, the county seat, and have several regiments stationed within supporting distance of the main body, in Wayne and Cumberland counties. The rebels express their intention to commence a movement into the State as soon as the reads, made very bad by the late rains, dry up sufficiently to make them passable. 'The movement will be made in two columns, by way of Columbia, Adair county, and Jamestown, Russell county. The expedition will be commanded by Gens. Pegram and Humphrey Marshall, and has in view the occupation of Louisville, Frankfort and Lexington, with the intervening country to the Tennessee horder.

The rebels profess to believe that when the attempt is made to enforce the conscription act in Kentucky, they will get all the help they want, as they anticipate a general uprising of the rebel sympathizers in resistance to the law. They feel additional confidence from the general belief among them that there are but few Federal troops in Kentucky.

Another invasion of the State, it is said, will be made by way of Cumberland Gap and Walker's Gap-the former force to move by without, however, any very important results. way of Barboursville, Knox county, and the latter by way of Williamsburg, Whitley county, forming a junction at London, Laurel county, and marching thence, by way of Richmond, to Lexington and Frankfort. This force, when united, will number ten thousand men.

Our information in regard to these contemplated movements, and the force to be employed in them, is derived from refugees, apparently intelligent and well informed men, from those sections of Tennessee and Kentucky now occupied by the rebel forces, and from its continuity and corroborating information from other sources, we cannot doubt that the rebels contemplate a formidable invasion of Kentucky, with the design of making a last effort to occupy at least the largest portion of the State.

The town is full of rumors of all kinds, yet all favorable. One wounded soldier just in says positively "Rosy" has his headquarters in Tallahoma. Of one thing, however, we are certain—we have Shelbyville and three hundred prisoners, besides twenty officers. Our avoid a good deal of trouble, as uppaid or unendorsed letters will be sent to the deal unendorsed letters will be sent to the dead letter office. This new law went into operation July 1st.

RECRUITING FOR THE "INVALID CORPS."-Capt. J. H. Smith has, in obedience to orders, opened an office, on Walnut street, near the corner of First, for the purpose of recruiting for the "invalid corps." This affords opportunity for those who have been wounded or otherwise partially disabled to still be useful, not only to the Government, but to themselves. Cort Smith appears to be "the right." sons, horses and men. I hear it positively selves. Capt. Smith appears to be "the right asserted that two hundred of the rebels must man in the right place." A vacation school for the instruction ividual and class training may be expected.

GATES PATENT

THE ABOVE CUT REPRESENTS TO MOST PERFECT HAND CIDER MILL THAT HAS EVER BEE offered to the tubile. The first of these machines was completed late in the season of 1880, and so great heen the demand for them that in this market alone we have sold over 180 machines, and have never yet had SINGLE COMPLAINT. We have not besidency in saying, that such universal success is exparalled in the historian of any new invention. This is the more remarkable when we take into account the military troubles, which have not a very limited amount of territory. Every farmer knows the advances of a season of not crusquing and pressing orages. The receding of the crusners brings down the bunches, then of their alternament motion they are pressed against the cylinder, tearing levery grape to pieces as it passes into the tub. It also makes an excellent Cheese Fress or Lard Press, and only occupies a space two by four feet. It has two cranks for hand, and a band wheel for power.

We claim over all others yet offered to the public, the following advantages:

1st. A greater amount of efficiency with less weight and exp. use.

2d. It will crush and press more apples in a given time with less power.

3d. It is less ilable to get out of order.

4th. It is arranged to run by hand or power.

5th. It is more convenient. By two thumb screws the hopper is turned upside down, and every part exposed to view for cleanin.

Sec. 2. That slavery or involuntary servitude, except for punishment for crime, shall cease in Missouri, on the 4th of July, 1870, and all slaves within the State after that day are hereby declared to be free. Provided, however, That all persons emancipated by this ordinance shall remain under their control and be subject to the authority of their late owners, or legal representatives, as ser-vant; during the following periods, to-wit: Those over forty years of age for during their lives; those under twelve until they arrive at the age of twenty three, and those of all other ages until the 4th of July, 1876. The persons, or their legal representatives, who, up to the moment of emancipation, were owners of slaves hereby freed, shall, during the period for which the services of such freed men are reserved to them, have the same authority and control over said freed men for the purpose of receiving the possessions and services of some that are now held absolutely by their masters in respect of his slave. Provided, hewever, That after said 4th of July, 1870, no person so held to service shall be sold to non-residents or removed from the State of Missouri by the authority of his late owner or legal representative.

Sec. 3. All slaves hereafter brought into this State, and not now belonging to citizens of this State, shall thereupon be free. Sec. 4. All slaves removed by the consent f their owners to any seceded State after the bassage by such State of an act or ordinance of secession, and hereafter brought into this State by their owners, shall thereupon be

The rebels are making desperate efforts to interrupt navigation of the Mississippi below Memphis. They have a battery of six guns at Datiish point, opposite Greenville.

Marmaduke is also using all his energies to lockade the river.

These matters are receiving prompt notice from the proper military authorities.

Scouts from Central Mississippi and Alabama report the feeling in regard to Vicksburg as very despondent, and reports about the repulse of Grant's army are freely circulated to cheer up the people. Jackson papers say Grant lost 10,000 men in the assault on the 20th, and that Johnston was gaining advantages in Grant's rear.

The rebel Gen. Ghelson is endeavoring to organize the State militia in central Mississippi, but with very poor success.

One of the Second Ohlo cavalry was severely wounded. We have sustained no other losses. Other rebels caught on this side of the river by the rise will no doubt be caught. Duke, with a brigade, is said to be opposite Creelsboro. Another heavy rain to-day. MANCHESTER, TENN., June 30.

The movements of the srmy of the Cumberland have resulted in forcing Bragg's army into abandening his streng fortified position on the north side of Duck river, and beating a hasty and confused retreat to Tullahoma. Had it not been for the delay of our movements by continuous torcents of rein accompanies. ments by continuous torrents of rain and wretched roads, General Rosecrans' splendid plan of operations would have been more fully realized, and the enemys retreat to their base prevented.

Since yesterday the whole of our army has been south of Duck river, well concentrated at this point. It is now advancing upon Tullahoma as rapidly as the wretched condition of the roads permit. It is certain that the en-emy are in strong force at Tullahoma, but the question whether they will contest our advance at that point is still unsettled.

Col. Wilder's brigade of mounted infantry is trying to destroy the Chattanooga railro ad south of Tullahoma.

[Special to the Cincinnati Gazette.] CAIRO, June 30-8 P. M. The United States steamer Gen. Dion has just arrived from Vicksburg on the 27th. Sh-brings nothing highly important that you have not already from other sources. When she left, firing was general, apparently all about the rebel works. Nothing was known positively as to the result. The Dion reports the gunboat Eastport aground in the vicinity of Ozark, Arkansas, yesterday. People at Memphis who have seen and conversed with deserters, say the rebels have concluded to sucrender on Thursday of the present week if not relieved by Johnston, General Sherman renders that impossible. Grant was booked by the same rumor for eu-tering Vicksburg on Sunday the 28th, but these are unreliable rumors and are only given to show the amount of general opinion in Memphis.

The steamer Gen. Dion was fired upon by a battery of eight guns at Cypress Bend while on her trip down. Her commander quickly ordered her guns run out and shelled the Confederates from their position, killing and wounding a number before they could make themselves scarce. The Dion was hit several times, and now bears marks upon her bow, the work of rebel shots, but no serious dam-age was done her crew or machinery.

CINCINNATI IN DANGER AGAIN. -The people fall was nothing. Can't they get Gen. Wallace with another 140,000 men to lie in the defense near Covington and thus preserve that goodly city? The Commercial of yesterday says:

The weather yesterday was fine, clear and warm. The river at this point was rising and had risen 8 inches during the previous 24 hours. There was a depth of 5 feet 7 inches of water in the channel yesterday at noon. The Big Sandy and the small tributaries all along the river between here and Wheeling are reported to be running out rather freely, but there has not been sufficient rain to give us any reason to hope for any great improvement in the state of the river.

DESCRIPTION OF CUT.

THOS E. WILSON.

Description of the "Louisville Reaper." THIS MACHING WEIGHS 800 POUNDS, CUTS 6% FEET WIDE, AND FROM 4 TO-24 INCHES HIGH. IT IS OF LIGHT DRAFT AND WITHOUT APPARENT side-draft. It will cut, under favorable circumstances, from 15 to 25 acres per day. There is no criver's seat on the Machine. This lessens the weight and leaves at he ase dentally fall. The gearing is all secured in an iron frame; the bearing are lorg and secure from dirt. With care this part of the Machine will last for many years. The high cut of the "Louisville Reaper" saves the handlink of a large portion of the heavier part of the straw, and the forker lays off the grain in perfect bundles, blightest cut can be made by two persons in one minute. Farmers who usually have to spend a half hour in making this change; will appreciate this improvement. A lever the tongue of the frame, to give the platform the proper inclination. The Machine is perfectly balanced. There is no weight upon the horses' necks, except

SIMPLICITY AND ECONOMY COMBINED

TISDEL & NASH'S Patent Attachment FOR BURNING

THE STATE OF THE S IN WILLS LANDS.

PATENTED MARCH 24, 1863.

THIS IS AN ARTICLE WHICH, ON ACCOUNT OF ITS UTILITY, SIMplicity and economy, has been very properly termed "the best thing of the kind ever invented," by the application of which to any common furd lamp, you can burn kerosene or Coal Oil, without smoke or smell, while more light is obtained from a given quantity of Oil than with any other burger. With one of these burners applied to any fluid lamp it may be moved rayladly about, or even carried out of doors, without the light being extinguished

WHAT THEY SAY OF IT.

A VALUABLE INVENTION.—One of the best, and at the same time, most she contrivances for burning Kerosene Oil in a common fluid lamp. It is apple that any child can apply it, an it will burn Kerosene Oil in any fluing wit hout even changing the wicking. It is one of the neatest things it is come under our notice, and is destined to become very popular with

If accomplishes the object very perfectly, and discenses with the amoyance and expense of the inconvenent chimner. A free and steady light, without smoke, is obtained, when a good q allived oil is used. The laveation co sists in apply at the metallic burner, to the tube of the Lamp; the burner is simply supped over this, and can be easily adjusted to any fluid lamp; thus equipped, coal oil can be burned in it as readily as fluid. The burner should be allowed to proceed above the top of the tube a distance equal to the diameter of it, or about 3-liof and the wines, compoing the attachment, must be separated, so as to allow the division to be just equal to the size of the tube. These lamps are very convenient for house held purposes, as they on be carried in the hand in growth the first size of the size of the size of the tube.
